BELGRADE

on the Beautiful Blue Danube

The Danube is the past, the present and the future. It is the river of time.

In Belgrade, along the right Danube bank, prehistoric settlements, Roman and Medieval border fortresses, monasteries and churches as well as dynamic shapes of a modern city are found. Material traces testify to life along the Danube at the dawn of civilization, while numerous designs conjure up the appearance of Belgrade as "the city of the future of Southeast Europe" on the banks of the Danube.

Gardoš - The Historic Center of Zemun

Even in the Neolithic Era people used this favorable location by the river and established a settlement called Taurinum during the Celtic and Roman periods, present-day Zemun. When the Romans conquered for the first time the Lower Danube Region in the 1st century BC, among other military camps Taurinum was established, and after a while it became the center of the Roman Pannonian fleet.

The historic center of Zemun, the Millennium Gardoš Tower, and traditional hospitality of the Zemun inhabitants attract numerous visitors who enjoy the national cuisine and intimate ambience of the Zemun restaurants.

Archaeological Neolithic Site Vinča - Hidden Pearl of Belgrade

Not far away from Belgrade, on the right bank of the Danube, in the village of Vinča, there is an archaeological locality of the Vinča culture, the first agricultural and pastoral farming community in the Balkans.

Only a little imagination is needed to conjure up the life in this Neolithic "metropolis", on the right bank of the Danube, more than 7,000 years old. Archaeological remains that testify to origin, boost and disappearance of the Vinča culture, as part of the early European civilization, are kept in the National Museum.

The Belgrade Fortress

The Belgrade Fortress dominates the right bank of the Danube. The fortress was erected gradually on the ridge overlooking the confluence of the Sava into the Danube over a long period of time, from the 1st to 18th century, as a military stronghold.

From a Pagan fortress, through the Christian and Islamic rampart, the fate of the city has been associated with the northern borders of the Balkan Peninsula, courses of the two European rivers separating the East and the West. Since the Crusaders break-through to the East, through the penetration of the Ottoman Empire to the West, there were many rulers in Belgrade, mass destructions, burning down and bombing; Belgrade has come a long way from a small Celtic "round fort", and Early Byzantine fortress, Austrian city, "Oriental town", to the capital and metropolis of an independent modern European state.

Grocka

Thanks to its exceptional geographic location, abundance of water and favorable climate, Grocka has been very attractive for living since the ancient times.

The Grocka territory was included by the Roman Province, Upper Moesia. The Roman road along the right bank of the Danube (1st century) connected Singidunum (Belgrade) and Viminacium (Kostolac). The settlements of Vinča, Ritopek, Grocka and Brestovik were made on this route of the former Roman road.

Today Grocka is famous for fruit and vegetable growing, with the "old style" main street characteristic for the architecture from the beginning of the 19th century.
